

Todd Frantz

Since 2015, Todd Frantz has provided food safety, programmatic, and strategic technical leadership in a range of roles for UL and is currently a Senior Technical Consultant with UL's Everclean Solutions.

He began his public health career at the Environmental Health department in San Bernardino County California and blends those roots with a wealth of industry experience including 14 years with the Walt Disney Company as Principal Food Safety and Public Health Manager. He has also had the privilege to work on public health projects around the globe consulting for USAID and private agencies in Morocco, Eritrea, and Kenya.

Closer to home, Todd has enjoyed the opportunity to contribute to a variety of Food Safety organizations and State committees and has been the President of the California Environmental Health Association and Chair of the Orange County Food Safety Advisory Council. Todd is also a registered environmental health specialist (REHS) with the National Environmental Health Association (NEHA)

Todd has a Master's in Health Science from Touro University International and completed his Bachelor of Science in Environmental Health at California State University – San Bernardino.

In his spare time, Todd has been known to bake some killer sourdough and gets away from it all exploring California's mountain trails with his wife and their faithful trail-dog.